Kennedy Invokes Taft-Hartley Law to End Dock Strike

Castro Sends Prisoners to Revive Talks

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Ten anti-Castro prisoners awaited developments here today that might bring freedom to them and 1,167 of their comrades in Cuba.

John Hooker Jr., executive secretary of the dissolved Tractors for Freedom Committee was expected to return from Miami this afternoon for his third meeting with the prisoners since their arrival from Havana Saturday.

Hooker has insisted he is not negotiating with the prisoners but only serving as a contact between them and the committee, Eleanor Roosevelt, Dr. Milton Eisenhower and Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers.

Informed sources said, however, that Hooker's continued contact with the prisoners indicated a new approach may be made to resume the stalemated negotiations.

Hooker said he could neither confirm nor deny such a possibility. One of the prisoners privately indicated that Hooker was offering a new proposal during his brief meeting with them Sunday.

Negotiations for the prisoners' release broke down Friday when Prime Minister Fidel Castro rejected a final offer of 500 general purpose tractors from the committee. Castro said then he would send 10 prisoners back to the United States to explain his position. The same prisoner group visited Miami and Washington last month after Castro first asked for 500 heavy tractors.

When asked about the $28 million estimated cost of the tractors demanded by Castro, Ulises Corbo, leader of the prisoner delegation, replied: "The tractors are worth $28 million in Cuba. They are much cheaper here," indicating that a face-saving formula may be found in a reduced figure.

Carbo told The Associated Press that Castro had given the prisoners "15 days or more" in which to complete their mission. "We still haven't decided whether we'll take all the time," he added.

Carbo also indicated the prisoners had reached no decision on whether they might make a direct public appeal for funds if no action is taken by the tractors committee.

"We are still thinking it over," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today invoked the Taft-Hartley Act in an effort to halt the strike of maritime unions.

In an executive order, the President said the strike will, if permitted to continue, imperil the national health and safety.

At the same time, Kennedy set up a three-member emergency board to consider facts and circumstances of the dispute between sea-going unions and ship operators.

Kennedy set a deadline of Friday for the board to make its report.

The board, under Taft-Hartley law, will make no recommendations, but will merely report on the issues of the dispute.

Kennedy, unless the strike is settled in the meantime, presumably will then seek an injunction to halt the strike for an 80-day cooling off period.

The first step of the injunctive machinery is to ask for a temporary restraining order. Under the law the federal judge who gets the application must grant the temporary restraining order.

Kennedy named David L. Cole as chairman of the emergency board.

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is expected to decide today whether to seek a Taft-Hartley injunction to end the 11-day maritime strike.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg is scheduled to give the President the results of a week-end survey on the strike's impact.

If the President decides the strike imperils the nation's health or safety, he could seek an 80-day court injunction against continuation of the strike.

Three maritime unions moved to head off the Taft-Hartley process with an offer Sunday to keep critically needed supplies moving.

They asked Kennedy to appoint an impartial board that would determine which cargoes were essential to the health, safety and security of the nation. Striking seamen then would work ships carrying these supplies.

An estimated 150 ships, including passenger liners, are tied up on the East, Gulf and West Coasts. Strike losses have run to many millions of dollars a day and from Hawaii have come reports of dwindling food supplies and a piling up of exports.

Even if Kennedy decides to invoke the Taft-Hartley emergency provisions it would take a week or so before a strike-ending court injunction could be obtained.

In this period, a fact-finding panel appointed by Kennedy would review the dispute quickly and submit a report without recommendations.

Once this report is at the White House, Kennedy could tell the Justice Department to go after the injunction which would force the strikers back to work. The court order directs bargaining to resume, aided by the Federal Mediation Service, during the 80-day cooling off period.

Although Goldberg, former counsel for the Steelworkers, said he is not sympathetic to use of Taft-Hartley, he said over the weekend the law will be enforced if national health or safety is endangered.

"Whether we like it or not this is our plain duty," Goldberg said. Kennedy himself voted against the law while in Congress.

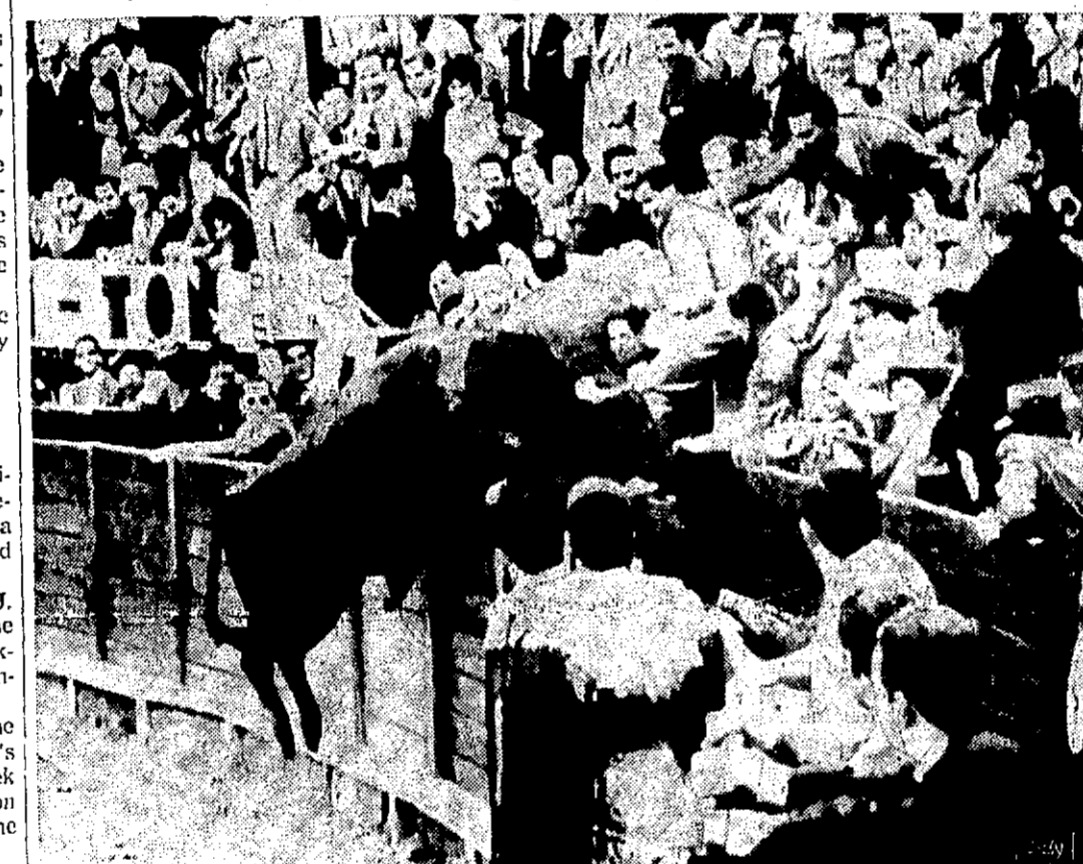

When former President Dwight D. Eisenhower used Taft-Hartley in the 1959 steel strike, Kennedy called use of the law "the most one-sided, unfortunate and unfair action in this administration's history."

Joseph Curran, head of the National Maritime Union, one of the six unions on strike, said Saturday that a Taft-Hartley injunction might only lead to a worse strike after the 80-day period.

Negotiations between the unions and the American Merchant Marine Institute, representing the ship owners, have been in a stalemate. The key issue in the strike is a union demand for bargaining rights among crews of American-owned ships flying foreign flags.

Other new officers include Dr. Leo Thuerk of Fort Smith, vice president, and Dr. Walter Giggich of Hot Springs, secretary-treasurer.

Punish the Unethical, Doctors Told

NEW YORK (AP) — "Physicians must not be afraid to censure or punish their fellow doctors who are guilty of unethical conduct or incompetence," Dr. Leonard W. Larson, president-elect of the American Medical Association said today.

He also called upon the AMA's 185,000 members for all-out opposition to proposals to pay for old-age medical care out of Social Security funds. Congress now is considering such legislation.

Speaking at opening sessions of the AMA's House of Delegates, its policy-making body, the Baltimore, N. D., pathologist said only an infinitesimal fraction of doctors fail "to observe the law or the dictates of good conscience."

But "that tiny fraction of undisciplined must be excised from the body of medicine, lest it grow like a cancer and thus pollute and corrupt the entire profession," he said.

Dr. Larson, who takes the helm of the society Tuesday night, urged physicians to serve willingly on grievance and disciplinary committees in state and local medical societies.

Grievance committees receive complaints about alleged overcharging, abuse of health insurance, failure to respond to calls, and unnecessary medical service.

President Back in White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy returned to the White House today after a weekend of rest in pleasant sunshine in the Virginia hunt country.

Mrs. Kennedy and the two Kennedy children, with their nurse, are to return by auto later.

Kennedy looked fit and showed no signs of his recent back ailment or his more recent bout with a virus infection and strep throat. He walked briskly from the helicopter to his office to tackle the day's business.

Mrs. E. J. Baker, Succumbs at Age of 83

Mrs. E. J. Baker, aged 83, a resident of Hope for over 50 years, died Sunday at her home. She is survived by a son, J. B. Baker of West Plains, Mo., and a sister, Mrs. Eleanor Weaver of El Paso, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the First Methodist Church here by the Rev. Rufus Sorrells. Burial by Herndon-Cornelius Funeral services will be in Wilson Cemetery in Lewisville.

Active pallbearers: Webb Lester Jr., Jimmie Cook, Jimmy Jones, Harry Hawthorne, Royce Weisenberger and Ray Turner.

Thinks U. S. Will Win Space Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—The head of the space agency said today he believed the United States will beat the Soviet Union in the race to land men on the moon—using a rocket two-thirds as tall as the Washington monument.

James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency, asserted that the goal was to reach the moon before 1970.

He declared that American chances of beating the Soviets are good, despite their successes in lifting heavier booster rockets and payloads into space. The American objective is to land and return a team of three men.

In a copyrighted interview in "U.S. News and World Report," Webb declared, "I think that, through the kind of over-all space effort that President Kennedy has recommended—in big boosters, in multimanned spacecraft, in the field of weather, in the field of communications, in the field of navigation, in many other fields—I think, in terms of the ability to solve all the technical problems, this kind of effort will put us there (on the moon) first."

Says Orval Ended Son's Opposition

HUNTSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Virgil Hatfield, a Huntsville Republican, said Sunday that a telephone call from Gov. Orval E. Faubus prompted Democrat Eugene Holloway to give up plans to seek the Madison County seat in the House of Representatives.

Faubus' 22-year-old son, Farrell, will be the only candidate for the post on the ballot in Tuesday's special election but will have write-in opposition from Essie Barker, 59, a retired Huntsville school teacher, who is a Republican.

Hatfield quoted Holloway as saying the governor told him that Farrell would not run for the office again and that Holloway "would have clear sailing in the next election."

Holloway himself declined comment, other than to say there had been some talk of his seeking the post, left vacant when A. C. Mowery resigned to take a job with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation state committee.

Hatfield said the Faubus-Holloway telephone conversation took place the morning of June 17. Deadline for filing was noon June 17.

After learning of the conversation, Hatfield said he, too, decided not to run for the office, although he had campaigned for it for three weeks.

"The Faubus machine would have swamped me," Hatfield said. "One of us would have stood a chance if Holloway had stayed in the race and split the Democratic vote."

The governor charged Saturday that Barker was put into the race by "outside interests," and intimated that Forrest Rozzell, executive secretary of the Arkansas Education Association, was responsible.

"I don't even know Forrest Rozzell," Barker said. "I have absolutely nothing to do with any outside interests the governor claims and don't know what he's talking about."

Arkla Air Conditioning is a subsidiary of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. and Stephens is president of both companies.

The purchase includes Ingersoll Power & Fabrication Co. and Ingersoll Corp. of Arkansas, subsidiaries of the Louisiana firm, and the affiliated Modisett Engine Service & Supply Co., Stephens said.

A Modisett repair facility will be continued at Jackson, Miss. Arkla Air Conditioning produces gas air conditioning and heating units, gas lights, gas-operated signs and gas meters. It has plants at Evansville, Ind., and Russellville, Ark.

Voters to Settle Bitter Campaign on Issuing Bonds

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus declared today that if the voters have a clear conception of the issues his $60 million bond program will be approved 4 to 1 Tuesday.

While Faubus refrained from a definite claim of victory, Joshua K. Shepherd, who has been heading the organized opposition, predicted that the plan would be defeated.

Secretary of State Nancy J. Hall cautiously estimated that 210,000 votes would be cast—less than half the 421,005 of last November's general election, when Faubus was elected to a fourth term.

Faubus combined his evaluation of the election with criticism of the anti-bond forces.

"It is easier to poison than to purify and easier to confuse than to clarify," he told a news conference.

He said this was what his opponents have done.

Former Gov. Ben Laney, who has emerged as a leader of the bond opposition, charged today proponents were attempting to mislead the public as to the amount of work which has been done for institutions and agencies slated to benefit if the bond proposal carries.

He cited improvements he said had been made during his administration in the 1940s and since.

National Guard Headquarters in Washington has been asked to investigate the Arkansas adjutant general's office's asking state guardsmen to vote for the plan.

Pulaski Rep. J. H. Cottrell Jr. telegraphed the guard bureau Sunday asking for the probe. A copy of his telegram went to President Kennedy.

Former Gov. Sid McMath has scheduled a statewide television-radio appearance against the bonds at 9:30 p.m. tonight. Gov. Orval E. Faubus has reserved time at 10:15 p.m. but has not said he will use it.

There were several other developments Sunday as the campaign entered its final hours. L. C. Carter of Stuttgart, president of the University of Arkansas Board of Trustees, said one of the colleges at the university is in danger of losing its accreditation because facilities are outmoded.

Joshua K. Shepherd of Little Rock, chairman of the Little Rock Committee for the Public Schools, an anti-bond group, charged that Faubus is "resorting to invective and personalities and emotional prejudice in the mistaken hope of confusing the people."

Shepherd predicted that the bond issue would be defeated.

Saturday, the executive committee of the state Republican Party came out against the bond issue, as did Henry Britt of Hot Springs, the GOP's 1960 gubernatorial candidate.

In a television speech Saturday night, Faubus again promised there would be no tax increase to pay for the bonds. He said opponents hope to defeat his bond plan then pass another through the legislature for which the gov-

Kennedy's SS Bill Due for Senate Debate

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another of President Kennedy's major bills, a proposal to expand Social Security benefits, comes up for debate in the Senate today.

The Senate is expected to clear the House-passed measure handily, but not until after a flurry of oratory over a Republican proposal to write in a health insurance program for old persons.

The House, meanwhile, will debate Kennedy's request for another $5.4-billion increase in the national debt limit now standing at $200 billion.

Tuesday the House takes up the biggest appropriations measure of the session, the $42,711,105,000 Defense Department bill.

Both branches hope to clean up a big batch of major bills by Thursday so members can get away for a long Fourth of July holiday weekend.

In addition to Social Security, the Senate will act on a rush-money bill carrying funds for the U.S. share of the U.N. Congo operation, a Commerce Department appropriations measure and the debt limit bill.

Both House and Senate must clear the highway financing bill containing $11.56 billion in revenues over the next 11 years to keep the interstate system on schedule.

The 4 cent federal gas tax will drop to 3 cents on Saturday if this measure is not signed into law by that time; it continues the 4 cent rate and imposes new tire and truck levies. The compromise version of the bill already has been worked out.

The Social Security bill up for consideration in the Senate lowers to age 62 the retirement age for men, increases the minimum Social Security benefit, raises the monthly payments to widows of retired workers, and makes other changes in the law.

This is one of the items on Kennedy's 16-point legislative program submitted to Congress in February. So far nine have been sent to him for signature.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., has announced he will raise the issue of medical care for old persons in the Social Security debate by offering his $450-million annual federal grant plan.

This is expected to meet solid Democratic opposition. A similar Javits proposal was beaten 67-23 last year.

The New York senator proposes a system of federal grants to help pay for three types of optional health insurance plans for persons over 65 with incomes below $3,000 for an individual, $4,500 for a couple.

Pageant May Draw a Record

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Officials say the 1961 Miss Arkansas Pageant, to be held here July 11-15, may draw a record number of entrants.

At least 26 cities and seven colleges plan to send representatives and several other cities have indicated they may enter contestants, officials said.

A successor to Claudette Smith of Star City, the reigning Miss Arkansas, will be selected and will represent the state in the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City, N.J.

Hope Dealer Plans Service Improvement

The homemaker, tired of muddy tracks, unshaven repairmen and unsatisfactory results when she has to call for appliance repair, now has a weapon with which she can strike back — a postpaid card which allows her to rate both the serviceman and his work.

Its part of a new program — Maytag Red Carpet Service — now being offered in this area by Lehman Auto and Home Supply, 213-215 S. Main St., Hope. Originated by a major home laundry appliance manufacturer, it aims at helping service organizations in supplying promptly the quality appliance service justifiably demanded by consumers.

As its name implies, customers receiving this service will be given the full "Red Carpet" treatment. The firm authorized to handle the program gains through a buildup of greater customer satisfaction and confidence.

In qualifying for the program, Lehman Auto and Home Supply had to meet a set of rigid standards established by the Maytag company's service department. The local firm is required to have adequate facilities and trained service personnel, provide service within 24 hours and have its men properly uniformed on its trucks identified with Red Carpet decals.

A serviceman making a call wears his official uniform, including red bow tie and official hat, carries a white toolbox bearing a Red Carpet insignia and has credentials certifying him as a qualified Maytag service specialist. Carrying two Red Carpets, he places one over the appliance and the other on the floor for his toolbox and tools to prevent marring either the appliance or the floor. Before his work is finished, error would not get credit. Fausus declined to predict the outcome of the election, but said he was hoping for victory.

A total of 603,795 Arkansans are eligible to vote Tuesday, but only about one-third of them are expected to go to the polls. The Arkansas Democrat said in its Sunday editions that Little Rock gamblers were giving 6-to-5 odds — either way — on the election.

Cottrell Saturday made public a letter signed by Col. John B. Morris, Jr., assistant adjutant general, and sent to employees of the state Military Department and all units of the Arkansas National Guard.

It told the employees and guardsmen that they would have Tuesday off and said:

"All personnel are urged to lend their support to the passage of the institutional building bond program on Tuesday, 27 June, 1961. Personnel who cannot be at their legal place of voting on election day will make necessary arrangements to vote absentee in support of this program."

Cottrell said this was a military command to vote for the bond issue. In his telegram to the Pentagon, he asked that Morris and Gen. Sherman T. Clinger, the adjutant general from whose office the letter was sent, be relieved of command pending a complete investigation to determine "possible flagrant violations of existing regulations."

Cottrell's telegram asked for quick "public retraction of the military order so that guardsmen will know before Tuesday that they are not bound" by it.

The telegram continued: "We specifically request facts concerning possible misuse of federal government property, possible use of postal privileges and personal conduct reflecting upon the integrity and high standards of senior grade National Guard officers as well as our other military leadership."

Copies of the telegram also went to the postmaster general and the Army chief of staff.

Clinger said the letter was not an order to vote for the bond issue. He said he could understand that opponents of the bond issue would misinterpret the paragraph of Col. Morris' letter. He said: "It is urging them to exercise their right to vote."

Carter in his Sunday night statement reiterated the University's urgent construction needs and said if the bonds are defeated, a "costly delay will be imposed upon the institutions and upon the people they serve."

He said needs will become more critical the longer action on a building program is postponed.

J. W. Hull, president of Arkansas Tech at Russellville, Sunday night issued a statement asking Pope County residents to vote for the bonds. He said four studies since 1956 have proved the need for construction at Tech.

"Had we had appropriations for class rooms and laboratories throughout the years," he said, "the need for the present proposal would not be with us."

He said an interest rate of less than four per cent on the bonds is assured because payment from the general revenue fund has been pledged in order to get the most favorable rate.

Carter said existing facilities at the University are "inadequate for current enrollments."

In a letter made public over the weekend, Fausus told an undisclosed number of voters that hard core integrationists and moderates who had opposed him in the school integration controversy seek to discredit him by defeating his bond program.

The letter was addressed to "Dear Friend." It said loss of the election Tuesday would place "in a position of influence and power the strongest integration leaders in Arkansas."

If the bonds are defeated, he said, opponents will take it "as a mandate to begin the still more active promotion of forcible integration of the schools of the state."

Bond Issue Could Bring Big Spending

By WICK TEMPLE

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas voters Tuesday are faced with the greatest financial decision in the state's history.

Gov. Orval E. Fausus is asking them to approve issuance of up to $60 million worth of bonds to provide construction funds for state colleges, the University of Arkansas, and state institutions.

Coupled with $14.5 million that must be redistributed by the legislature from the unconstitutional omnibus expenditures act, "mortgage the future of Arkansas" the spending total is $74.5 million.

Fausus and other bond backers say the bond plan is a safe, sound way to pay for sorely needed construction. The governor points to the State Hospital, part of which has been condemned as unsafe, and to cramped conditions in colleges.

Opponents of the bond bill say the only way the state will be able to pay off the bonds, fees and interest is through new or higher taxes or by diverting public school or welfare funds. They say they realize construction is needed, but then back a more conservative bond issue or a pay-as-you-go plan to provide it.

It has been a bitter campaign. Opponents of the bonds have charged Fausus with trying to lull the future of Arkansas and provide political pottage and unbridled authority for his administration.

The governor said opposition to the bonds is tied to integrationists who are trying to crush his prestige by defeating the bonds.

He warned that if the bonds are defeated, the strongest integration leaders in Arkansas would be placed "in a position of influence and power."

Opponents lashed Fausus for injecting the race angle, and criticized the bond program itself because they say it does not specify for what purpose the money shall be used. They also claim interest, bond broker and attorney fees will run the $60 million figure up.

The Arkansas Education Association, one of the most vigorous anti-bond groups, said eventually $60 million will be needed to pay off the bonds.

Fausus has promised there will be no additional taxes and no drain of state agency funds to pay off the bonds. He said all the bonds would not be issued if revenues do not increase.

DOROTHY DIX

Party a Real Cause for Celebration

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE
stars that you didn't make a fool of yourself by declaring your love for the wife of your science teacher.

Dear Helen: I am a 13-year-old boy with an awful problem. It concerns two families. In the first family, one girl goes out with her boy friend, another child takes in a show. Two stay at home doing nothing. The parents sit down, read the paper and say not a word.

In the second family, all eat together, then all go for a ride, visit relatives or swim. At night they all watch television or have a conversation over a cup of tea. Ours is the first family. How can we be like the second family? — Age 13

Dear 13: The second family is exceptional. It seldom happens that children and parents share the same tastes. But if they did, it would be a very dull world. However, even though they differ in thought and action they can be united by love. This is undoubtedly the secret of the second family's togetherness.

As a rule, the parents take the initiative but, since yours haven't, there is no reason why you shouldn't try. The Fourth of July would be a fine day to start. Ask your father and mother to help you organize a family party for this day—either a picnic, swim or a serve-yourself supper at home.

If you've earned any money this vacation, pay for the eats yourself. If not, you can be volunteer cook and bottle washer under Mama's direction. Have fun doing it. Enthusiasm is contagious. Before you know it all the others will be joining in. Yours can be the family pattern that will set the pattern for all those to follow.

Dear Helen: Unfortunately I have fallen in love with the young wife of a science teacher at my school. I have talked to her but a few times and I doubt if she realizes my deep feeling for her. I am 17, she slightly over 20. Should I declare my love or go on suffering alone? — G. H. W.

Dear G. H. W.: See this "grand passion" for what it is, part of the business of maturing. Once a boy reaches puberty he may find that some older woman to whom he has never given a second thought, suddenly sends him into a tizzy, just as your science teacher's wife has done with you. Suffer in silence. Force yourself to go with boys and girls your own age who are still detached. Be active in sports. Interest yourself in a hobby and the day will come when you'll thank your lucky

Britain and Iraqi Fuss Over Oil
By ARTHUR GAYSHON
LONDON (AP)—Britain and Kuwait rejected today Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassam's move to annex the rich Persian Gulf oil sheikdom, Kuwait.

Britain also reaffirmed a pledge to go to the aid of the ruler, Sheikh Abdullah Al-Salim As-Sabah if asked. But qualified diplomats reported that the ruler made no request for immediate help in talks at his palace today with Britain's representative, John Richmond. The sheik and the British agreed instead they would try to resist Kassam's takeover move calmly and quietly. Both hope Kassam will be persuaded to modify his stand. Both are anxious to avert a major Middle-East crisis that could upset the stability of the sheikdom that supplies 40 per cent of Britain's oil.

Out of State Workers Pose Tax Problem

By ROBERT R. GOLDENSTEIN

CHICAGO (AP)—A key figure in the nation's ever-broadening state income tax picture these days is the fellow who earns his paycheck in a neighboring state.

He has been the subject of heated debate in the legislative chambers of several states that collect income taxes.

The big issue he poses is — which state gets to keep his income tax dollars, the state where he lives or the state where he works?

Thirty-six states and the District of Columbia now impose income taxes. Commerce Clearing House, a private agency that reports on tax laws, says many of the states have satisfactory agreements with neighboring states and others are working toward a solution.

For instance: When West Virginia passed an income tax law recently it was able to work out reciprocal agreements with neighboring Kentucky and Maryland, both of which already had income tax laws.

All three states have directed firms hiring nonresidents to reduce the nonresidents' taxes in the amount the employee is taxed in his home state.

But such harmony is not easy to come by when a great many more employees commute to one amount imposed by New York state than to the other. For example, approximately 150,000 New Jersey residents flock to New York jobs each morning compared with 50,000 or so New Yorkers who work in New Jersey.

New Jersey had no income tax, but New York had—and Jerseyites who worked there were required to pay it, about $50 million a year total.

Written into the New York tax law is a provision that nonresidents may deduct their home state's income tax from the amount imposed by New York. Faced with the need to raise money for commuter transportation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

From now on, Jerseyites who work in New York (and only they) must pay a New Jersey income tax in the same amount imposed on them by New York. In effect, they would simply begin paying their entire New York tax to New Jersey.

For its part, New Jersey will begin withholding for New York the income tax of the New Yorkers working in Jersey—about $10 million a year which the New Yorkers theoretically had been required to pay in their home state but which heretofore had not been withheld from their Jersey paychecks.

Noting that the effect of this action would be to give New Jersey $50 million in exchange for $10 million, New York officials are anything but pleased. They point out the Jersey tax may be unconstitutional discrimination because it doesn't apply to all the state's residents. They anticipate a court test.

Wisconsin and Minnesota also are involved in a tax controversy. It started when Minnesota adopted a withholding tax which Wisconsin said voided an old agreement that neither would tax the other's residents.

Negotiations were started to reach a reciprocal agreement but they collapsed when a Wisconsin legislative committee contended Minnesota stood to gain a half-million dollars a year because more Wisconsin residents are employed in Minnesota than vice versa.

The Wisconsin Assembly is studying a bill that would allow Wisconsin to tax the incomes of Minnesotans working there and distribute the money proportionately to Wisconsin communities whose residents work in Minnesota and are taxed there.

Thirty-one of the 37 states which impose some form of income taxes allow their commuting residents credits, for taxes imposed on their incomes in other states.

No such credits are allowed, however in Alaska, Indiana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Tennessee and Wisconsin.

Piersall Is Old Self to TV Viewers

CLEVELAND (AP) - The reformation this season in the behavior of Cleveland's Jim Piersall has been given a setback by the sting of a pitched ball on his right wrist.

It was the old Jim Piersall - emotional, fiery, irritating umpires and hammering it up for fans and a national television audience - who touched off a near donnybrook in the Indians' opener with Detroit Sunday.

The result was that Piersall, who was ousted from eight games last year, got thumbed from the field for the first time this year. Piersall dashed to the mound to get pitcher Jim Bunning after he was nicked on the wrist with a pitch. Soon both dugouts were empty as players milled in a wild scramble.

"That guy (Bunning) has hit me six or seven times," declared Piersall later as he sat out the second game with a tender wrist. "I'm tired of it. He'd better stop throwing at people or somebody's going to get him."

Bunning disclaimed any intent of aiming to hit Piersall, explaining: "You don't think I'd be throwing at anyone with us leading by two runs and two guys on base. That wouldn't make sense."

Piersall threw a feeble left hook and followed with a right. Both missed as Bunning, wanting no part of a fight, ducked away. Then came an exchange of kicks. These were more effective. Both participants had shin scratches. Piersall was such a problem last season the club gave him a week to "rest up" at home in Boston. His teammates called a meeting to deal with the problem and even Joe Cronin, American League president, called in the high-strung centerfielder for a "dutch uncle" lecture. But Piersall went his merry way.

World Mark Set in AAU Track Meet

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Dwyer Burlison, 20-year-old Oregon junior, said today he'd rather win a mile race in 6 minutes than lose one in 3:48.

That about sums up his attitude on his disappointing 4:04.9 victory over Jim Beatty in the National AAU championships Sunday.

The race, produced another chapter in the war of words between Burlison, who holds the American mile record of 3:57.6, and Beatty, 26, whose best is 3:58.

Beatty accused Burlison and his teammate, Keith Forman, of boxing tactics.

"Nonsense," said Burlison. "I don't know what was going on but it takes two to box a man and that didn't happen."

This was Burlison's first victory over Beatty in four meetings.

The 19,220 spectators were drawn mostly by the prospect of a 4-minute mile. But Beatty and Burlison spent the first lap watching each other.

Keith Forman took over as the leader and hit the first quarter in 67.2. That eliminated all hopes of a 4-minute mile.

Burlison finally opened up just before the three-quarters and won by about 15 yards. Beatty started out after him too late, with less than 200 yards left.

"I ran a stupid race," said Beatty. "I never should have let them box me."

All told, six meet records were set, three Saturday and three Sunday.

Two of the three marks Sunday were upsets. Ron Morris of the Southern California Striders did 15-8 in the pole vault. Don Bragg, the favorite and Olympic champion, was 13th. Aubrey Dooley, the defending champion, didn't even make the final.

Jay Silverstein, an Army lieutenant, got off a 195-8 toss in the discus, beating out defending champion Al Oerter and co-world record holder Rink Babka.

The other meet record during the day was set by Deacon Jones of the Army, who hit the tape in 8:48 in the 3,000-meter steeplechase.

Travs Salvage 2nd Game of Twin Bill

By VERNON BUTLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Neither Doug Gallagher nor Joe Grzenda has reached the .500 level this season as a Birmingham pitcher but both are handy southpaws to have on your side, especially when you're playing in Nashville's Sulphur Dell.

The young left-handers pitched complete games Sunday as the Barons swept Nashville 9-2 and 5-2 to pull into the Southern Association lead over the Chattanooga Lookouts, who were 6-1 victims at Macon. Mobile slugged Shreveport 12-5, and Little Rock salvaged a split in its doubleheader with Atlanta by winning the second game 4-3 after the Crackers had rallied for a 9-8 verdict in the 10-inning opener.

Gallagher scattered eight Nashville hits and improved his season chart to 5-6. Birmingham warped up the first game early with four-run innings at the expense of loser Oscar Chinique and reliever Jim Dunn. Another four-run blast, this one in the fifth inning of the second game, treated the Barons to their sweep. George McCue and Don Lumley hit two-run homers in the second game cluster that snapped a 1-1 tie.

Macon slipped ahead of Shreveport into sixth place with its victory over Chattanooga. Jim Stump restricted the Lookouts to five hits for his sixth mound triumph against two losses.

Much Humor Doesn't Draw Laughs

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Abe Burrows, a theatrical jack-of-all-trades whose specialty is comedy, recently delivered a rather profound statement: "I think humor is what makes you laugh, no matter what the situation is."

It seems pretty apparent that the trouble with television humor - and the discontented manufacturers of comedy - is that much of it isn't getting laughs. When a comedian is funny, he stays on the air. When he isn't, he doesn't, but most of the retired funnymen have a tendency to blame the medium rather than their own shortage of comic material for their departure.

The most recent noisy defector from the ranks of TV comedians is Mort Sahl who has decided that the medium just isn't right for his type of humor and that the Ed Sullivan Show, his primary showcase over the past couple of seasons, just doesn't give him enough time to work his magic on the audience.

Well, I've watched Sahl a number of times on the Sullivan Show, and one of the interesting things about his performance has been the curious silence which fell over the studio audience while he was on. Last time a few weeks ago, the lack of response was downright embarrassing, and even Sahl seemed disconcerted. He was dropping in bitter little asides about "pockets of resistance" as his topical sallies fell with dull thuds.

Jack Benny goes on with his comedy show year after year, and you don't hear him assailing TV. Red Skelton will be back again and makes no secret of his affection for TV. Steve Allen, who will be back next season, never teed off on television when the going got sticky for him.

Actress and model Suzy Parker will take Arlene Francis' place on the "What's My Line?" panel next Sunday, and there will be a succession of women guest panelists filling in during Arlene's summer-long leave of absence from the show.

Drownings in State Push Death Toll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A teen-aged couple drowned Sunday while swimming in Black River near Swifton. Their deaths brought to 21 the number of Arkansians who died violently during the week ended at midnight Sunday.

Sheriff Leonard Woodman identified the couple as Gladys Louise Irby, 16, of Swifton, and Tom Buchanan, 18, of Lake City. He said they were swimming eight miles west of Swifton when they apparently stepped into a deep hole.

Miss Irby was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Irby of Swifton and Buchanan was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Onie Buchanan of Lake City.

Four persons drowned in Arkansas last week. Eight died in traffic accidents, six were shot to death, two died in fires and one was fatally stabbed.

Raymond Anthony, about 35, died late Saturday in a fire that destroyed a rooming house in Osceola.

Dwight Berry suffered slight burns, but the owner of the rooming house, Leo D. Brawley, said the 20 other tenants were not at home at the time of the fire.

Fire Chief J. W. Taylor said the fire probably started in a bedroom, but he said he did not know the cause.

Freddie Lee Johnson, 22, Negro of North Little Rock, was shot to death Saturday after an argument in a Negro cafe there. Danny Simpson, 25, Negro, was seriously

SUSPENSE SETTE

A Short Short Story

By JOYCE TAYLOR

Blackie stood on one of those long stretches of road without trees or human habitation, a piece of highway that can only be found in the West.

For hours he had waited, waving his thumb futilely at passing cars. None stopped. It was dangerous to pick up hitchhikers.

Blackie was thirsty and hungry, but there was neither food nor water in this forsaken spot. Next time, he wouldn't ride out into the open spaces with somebody who was going to check on cattle. He'd make sure there was a town at the end of the lift.

Then almost unexpectedly a car came along. A car with an out-of-state license and a young driver, almost Blackie's age.

"Hop in," said the driver. Blackie hopped. He grinned his thanks as the car started forward again.

"Going far?" asked the driver. "Clear to the coast," said Blackie.

The driver nodded. "Can't take you all the way, but I'll give you a couple of hundred miles."

A couple of hundred miles, then Blackie would have it all to do over again. His hand sought his pocket. It touched the metal of a gun. He had carried it for emergencies, but this was surely an emergency. An out-of-state driver who wouldn't be missed. Probably he had dough in his pocket.

With the car, Blackie wouldn't have to stand alongside the road, waving his thumb to get rides. He'd get the car.

"Want me to drive a spell?" Blackie asked.

The driver thought for a moment. "Okay." He slowed the car, pulled over to the side of the road. Then he got out, standing by the side of the car while Blackie shifted seats.

When the man came around the car to get into the seat Blackie had left he stared into the muzzle of the gun.

"What is this?" the man demanded.

"What does it look like?" replied Blackie.

The driver lunged. But Blackie was ready. He let him have SE was ready. He let him have it right between the eyes.

The sound of the gun blast was lost in the emptiness of the prairie. A few birds rose from wounded.

Officers said Mose Williams, 56, Negro of North Little Rock, surrendered to police and said he did the shooting after he and Johnson had argued. He was jailed on an open charge.

Redlegs Widen Lead to Three Over Dodgers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati widened its first place lead over Los Angeles to three games Sunday, defeating the Dodgers, 3-2. Joey Jay, with the help of Jim Brunsan in the eighth, notched his ninth triumph, making a three run first inning holdup.

San Francisco's third-place Giants fell four games off the pace, splitting a doubleheader with St. Louis. Ray Sadecki, 20-year-old southpaw, limited the Giants to two hits in the nightcap, winning 3-1 after the Giants had captured the opener 6-4 with a four-run rally in the ninth.

Chicago's Cubs defeated Milwaukee 5-3 behind the hitting of George Altman and Billy Williams, who got seven of their team's 10 hits off loser Warren Spahn. Pittsburgh and Philadelphia divided a doubleheader. The Pirates won the opener 10-5 and the Phillies came back to take the second 4-3.

New York's Yankees narrowed Detroit's American League lead to 1½ games, defeating Minnesota 8-4 while Cleveland was holding the Tigers to a split. The Indians won the second game 4-3 after the Tigers had walked off with a 6-3 opening game triumph. Baltimore outlasted Los Angeles 9-8 in 14 innings. Chicago's White Sox made it 10 in a row, winning two from Washington 7-3 and 6-3. Boston and Kansas City split a pair, the Red Sox winning the first 7-4 and the A's taking the second 3-2.

Cincinnati used only two hits to score three runs in the first inning. After Blasingame singled, Gus Bell walked and Vada Pinson doubled home a run. Garret Coleman drove in another with a sacrifice fly and the third run scored on a balk.

George Altman and Billy Williams slammed Warren Spahn for seven of the Cubs' 10 hits. Altman had a double, triple and homer and scored three runs. Williams had four singles and drove in two. Don Cardwell, with the help of Barney Schultz, who pitched hitless ball in 3-1 relief innings, won his sixth.

Three St. Louis errors and singles by Jim Dapenport and Willie Mays gave the Giants four runs in the ninth to overcome a 4-2 Card lead in the first game. Ray Sadecki, 20-year-old Redbird left-hander, permitted the Giants only two hits as he registered his sixth victory in the nightcap. Stan

Represents State for Third Time

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — David Kossover of England will represent Arkansas for the third straight year at the International Junior Chamber of Commerce tennis tournament in Lansing, Mich., Aug. 6-12.

Kossover won the state junior boys division title Saturday, beating Chuck Phillips of Little Rock in the finals, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2. Ben Barry of Fort Smith won the boys 15 and under division title. Ann Bramble of Ft. Smith won the junior girls 18 and under title. Lynne Leopard of Little Rock won the girls 15 and under title.

Tigers Lose Ground in Indians Split

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit first baseman Norm Cash walloped three home runs Sunday but the Tigers lost ground in the American League pennant race when they were held to a split in their doubleheader with Cleveland.

New York's second-place Yankees narrowed Detroit's first place margin to 1½ games, defeating Minnesota 10-5. The Tigers, after winning the first game 6-3, were nipped in the ninth inning of the second game 4-3 by the Indians.

Chicago's red hot White Sox reared into a fifth-place tie with Baltimore, defeating Washington twice, 7-4 and 6-3. The double triumph extended the Sox' winning streak to 10 in a row and gave them 17 victories in their last 18 games. Baltimore downed Los Angeles 9-8 in 14 innings on Ron Hansen's home run.

Boston and Kansas City split. The Red Sox won the opener 7-4 and the A's took the second 3-2.

Cincinnati widened its first-place National League lead over Los Angeles to three games, shading the Dodgers 3-2. San Francisco's third-place Giants were held even by St. Louis, winning 10-5. The double featured a two-run rally in the second against loser Billy Loos. Mays' 18th homer in the ninth ruined Sadecki's shutout bid.

Homers decided the Philly-Pirates twin bill. Robert Clemente had two for Pittsburgh in the first game, his second igniting a four-Sadecki, 20-year-old Redbird left-hander, permitted the Giants only two hits as he registered his sixth victory in the nightcap. Stan
